DULUTH DIRT IS MOVING.

A Brief Review of a Subject of Intense Interest to Many.

Week's Realty Movement; A Few Pointers That May be Good.

In real estate the past week has been active, but not in a way to herald any particular movement in any special locality, or to advertise extensively the appearance of a boom. A great deal of property has changed hands, quietly for the most part and not in any confined location, but the aggregate has nevertheless been large. Perhaps the largest single deal on record was one made Saturday, about forty acres adjoining the Sixth division of West Duluth for $20,000, but others of nearly equal importance have been carried on. West Duluth lands have been steadily and rather actively, with a continued call for property in the Fourth division, near the lake and where in a couple of three weeks 200 mechanics will be busy at work. Not only is there a demand, but the call is for building improvements, dwellings and the like. The Iron Ore company owns a lot of property in this division, and it is understood that the company will soon arrange matters as to place this property in the hands of the city for the purpose of building 150 dwelling houses, the starting of the big iron lay works, with enough work guaranteed to carry in a week the next summer, the doubling in the capacity of the West Duluth Manufacturing company's plant, and the half-dozen other industries and interests. Secured for West Duluth, all these will send property along up.

There has been but little sale in the center of town the past week and practically no deals have been closed in business property. A movement in dock frontage is looked for soon and for actual business needs. At the East End what sales are made are for actual building in the near future and sales are not at all infrequent. Probably the number of dwellings to go up in Easton and on to Lester river will next week double any season heretofore. On the hill there seems to be quiet, but just why, when the cheapness of property, the availability by constantly pushing out streets and sidewalks, and the certainty of a new or other roads in the near future is a question hard to solve.

Transfers for the week past have been as follows:

	No.	Total.
Tuesday	12	$4,238
Wednesday	12	$4,238
Thursday	12	$4,238
Friday	12	$4,238
Saturday	12	$4,238
Sunday	12	$4,238
Total	60	$21,190

While money is just now tight through the country and in the city, the feeling of Duluth real estate and grows more buoyant by month and it is universally regarded as the best real estate town in the West. Large investors of the Twin cities, especially of Minneapolis, are buying here when they buy anywhere else. Many of these buyers will in no great length of time follow their investments by their residence, in fact many are already doing so. The best business since 1887 is expected for the remainder of the winter and spring.

TEMPLE OPERA NOTES.

"The Tin Soldier" has been booked for April 10. Miss Pauline Hall, the present reigning queen of comic opera at the Casino, is diligently studying the German language, with a view, it is said, of accepting an engagement in the near future, as the star of a large German operatic combination, which will soon tour the country.

Gladys, the pretty and clever young actress, whom J. M. Hill was going to star in "Julius," has possibly been seen later in the season in a big production of "Paul and Virginia." Miss Gladys will suit the part splendidly. The only attraction at the Temple this week is "Little Lord Fauntleroy," from Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's famous book by the same name. No sweeter play was ever written. It is full of quiet pathos and humor, and in Little Fauntleroy the story of a boy who, during all of his juvenile heroes. The company coming here is strong in every part, and is one of the best-balanced theatrical organizations ever seen in Duluth. The attraction holds the boards Friday and Saturday next, with a matinee Saturday afternoon.

Threatened the Wrong Man. A case of mistaken identity resulted rather seriously yesterday. J. Warnock, a well-known flour and feed man doing business at the West End, had an account of $25 against a party whom he thought was trying to give him the slip. Seeing a man that answered to the description of his debtor, he gave chase, burst in upon the man, and demanded immediate payment. It was in vain for the man to protest that, he owed for no such material; that he had neither horse nor cattle, consequently no need for hay, feed and other things. Finding he could not get the money, the feed man gave the other a tremendous thrashing. It soon transpired that he had beaten the wrong man, and he will be required to answer at the municipal court for his rashness.

A Real Live Count. A bona-fide count was among the prominent arrivals in the city this morning. He stopped with Landford Butcher, art of the Merchants, to whom he came with a letter of introduction from Capt. Babst, the Milwaukee brewer. Count August Plumpant came from Munich, Bavaria, and is traveling in the Northwest for his health, and he purchased a hunting outfit this morning to make a tour through Minnesota woods.

Duluth & Winnipeg Stockholders. W. A. Barry, D. E. Cameron and James W. Eldon of the Duluth & Winnipeg road, arrived in town this morning on business connected with extension matters.

Special Holiday Rates. For the Christmas and New Year holidays, "The Northwestern Line" Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway—will sell excursion tickets to points within 200 miles of Duluth at one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold only on Dec. 24, 25 and 26, and on Jan. 1, 1899, good to return until and including Jan. 3, 1899. Good for going passage only on date of sale.

The Norwegian Lutheran social at St. Clements hall given Saturday night, was well attended. Christmas festivities were held in the lecture room of the church last night.

A part of the smoke stack of the S. & H. mill was blown down Saturday night.

Mrs. H. L. Kreie left this morning for her home in Monticello, Minn. S. O. Chilton left this morning for Minneapolis to visit friends during New Years.

W. J. Conrad, formerly operator at Rice Point, but now of the general offices of the St. Paul & Duluth, was a visitor at the West End yesterday.

Charles Witterstedt leaves tonight for a short visit with friends over New Years.

West of the National Iron works is in Chicago on a short business trip. He will return tomorrow.

CITY BRIEFS.

The glass work on Stunt's new greenhouse is finished, and 4575 panes were used. The boiler arrived this morning and is being put in position, and the steamers will commence their work Sunday morning.

About forty feet of the Duluth club skating rink will be blown down last night.

The cornice of the Clague & Prindle building has been again put in position, with some changes which are highly appreciated.

The funeral of Robert R. Loughton, who died Saturday at 315 First avenue east, occurred this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Marley's Ghost will be illustrated at the Bethel tonight by Professor A. F. Lestor.

The following officers of the First Baptist church were selected for the ensuing year: N. A. Burnham, deacon; H. Mahon, trustee; Dr. John B. Weston, Sunday school superintendent; Prof. T. Christensen, vice-superintendent; J. S. Reeve, clerk.

W. J. Kennedy & Bros. have decided to move their stock of goods to Rochester, this state.

THE EIGHT HOUR DAY.

A General Move for Its Establishment All Over the Union.

What Duluth Spokesmen in the Labor Cause Have to Say.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—With the present week the various local trade organizations that are affiliated with the National Federation of Trades will inaugurate an active but secret campaign in the interest of the eight-hour day.

Among the trades that will go into the movement are the bricklayers, carpenters, engineers and other railroad employees, workmen and stockyard employees.

Secret circulars outlining the plan of campaign have been received from President Samuel Gompers. One paragraph suggests that the sense of the electors be taken on the question, and it has already been decided to take a vote on the eight-hour day at the municipal election to be held in Cook county next April.

THE HOME OUTLOOK.

What Laborites in Duluth Know and Say of the Movement.

Interviews with prominent labor champions in Duluth, while apparently wishing to conceal knowledge of the intention of organized labor with regard to the above dispute, plainly indicate that such a demand will be made very soon and will prevail.

The immense labor vote of this city will be largely thrown in favor of those candidates whose sympathies are with the workmen in this respect. Laboring men profess to believe that the wage problem will accommodate itself to the circumstances.

A brave machinist at the West End when shown the above dispatch spoke about as follows: "The eight-hour demand will be made very soon and will prevail. Employers now admit that a man who 'feels good' will do his work methodically; the former glories in it. Take the Minnesota state prison for instance. Under the old contract system, in the paint shop one division of men were employed in stripping and priming wheels, and free men and convicts worked side by side. The work was given out in 'stools' as the civilians had eighty wheels a day to finish while the convicts had but forty. You can draw your own conclusion from this. One class had to work the other desired to do so, and the careful observation of the employers of the mixed classes made the division as stated."

Editor Grigsby of The Industrial Age admits that the various labor organizations are calmly preparing for the eight-hour demand. He says: "The day should be divided into three parts, part of rest, recreation and labor. The eight-hour demand, if it prevails, and it certainly will, will give employment to a great portion of the unemployed. Daily wages will not enter into the demand. It's the hours of work that labor is agitating. Labor is gradually educating capital up to a standpoint where the latter can see that a willing, cheerful, energetic man will perform nearly twice as much as an indignant or one whose heart is physically tired out. The demand in this sense will be made, but made so universally that it will overpower the opposition of narrow-minded employers."

SCENE OF HIS DEFEAT.

Jake Kilrain in Training; General Brief Notes of Sports.

RICHMOND, Miss. Dec. 30.—Jake Kilrain is once more at the scene of his memorable encounter with John L. Sullivan, and this morning he took a walk up the hill and looked over the little bunch of flat grass which the Boston man sent him to grass. Jake is the guest of Mr. Rich, and is training for his coming fight with Yaguelin, the Gascon. He puts in four hours daily pounding the bag and swinging clubs, and also takes a five-mile walk before breakfast.

Sporting Notes.

Jake Kilrain is to be offered the position of boxing instructor at the Southern Athletic club.

The director of the California Athletic club have hit upon a plan that will prevent any more draws being fought at that club. They will let the men fight until a conclusion seems doubtful, then the fighters will be allowed to fight only ten rounds more, and if they fail to bring the fight to an issue, the referee will decide it on points.

Duncan C. Ross, of St. Louis, N. S. W., and has been matched to meet Capt. Jennings in a sword contest. The only up and up contest that Duncan, ever competed in was with Jennings in "Prison" three years ago. Jennings was severely hurt by Ross.
